ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Front of Archduke Joseph-In the snow covered forests of the Carpathians the cold was severe and the operations were confined to patrol activity.

Between the Otus and Putna valleys several points of support were captured by us and the Russians and Rumanians were pushed back further towards the plain. Strong counter thrusts of fresh forces failed to take from us the ground gained.

Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—The summit of Mount Adolbert was stormed yesterday by the Munich bodyguard infantry regiment.

Between Fokshani and Fundeni, the Russians launched a great attack. Only in the direction of Obilechti did they gain a little ground. At all other places the Russian charge broke down under heavy losses. Several hundred prisoners remained in our hands.

RUSSIAN

PETROGRAD, Jan. 7.—Our detachments as a result of a surprise attack captured trenches in the Otus valley and also a number of prisoners. Enemy counter attacks were repelled. The enemy's attempt to advance toward the heights north of the Kassin river was repelled.

Under pressure, the Russian and Rumanian detachments occupying positions on the upper branch of the Sushitsa river and northwest of Fokshani retired a little eastward. The Russians by a counter attack in the region of Kaputino, northwest of Fokshani, restored their position as it existed previous to yesterday's battle. The enemy launched an attack in dense formation against our troops and the Rumanians near Peceshi, southwest of Fokshani, but were repelled by our fire.

Our detachments, assuming the offensive, have reached the line of Rasputina lake, southwest of Henulechti, and southeast of Rasputina. Enemy attacks from Matkencshi and Odanaki against detachments occupying positions on the lower reaches of the Buzon river were repelled.

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH

PARIS, Jan. 7.—In Belgium there was spirited artillery fighting in the sector of Mierop-Bains. In Champagne, in the region of Tahure, an enemy reconnaissance, taken under our fire, suffered losses and was dispersed. There is nothing to report on the rest of the front.

To the west of the River Meuse there have been skirmishes and encounters with hand grenades in the Pille Mort sector and around Hill 204. Our artillery has bombarded actively the northern slope of Hill 238, the Haute Chevauchee, and also certain German organizations in the region of Le Mort Homme.

East of the Meuse a surprise attack of the enemy, supported by a spirited bombardment, resulted in complete failure east of Vaux les Palenieux. In the Vosges, at a point to the west of Sainte Marie hill, an enemy attack was checked by our fire.

BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 7.—In the capture of the two hostile posts near Beaumont-Hamel, reported yesterday, fifty-six prisoners were taken.

We operated a successful raid this afternoon south of Arras: Nineteen German prisoners were taken.

The enemy attempted to enter our trenches southwest of Wytschaete. The attackers were repulsed. Another enemy attempt against advanced posts on our front north of Tyres was driven off by our fire.

There has been artillery activity at various points along our front, particularly south of Souchez and in the neighborhood of La Bassée canal, Armentieres and Tyres.

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht—After several hours of artillery preparation English battalions attacked south of Arras. The attack broke down under heavy losses in our artillery and machine gun fire. Unfavorable weather limited the fighting activity in all the other sectors on this front.

RUSSIAN FRONT

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 7, by wireless to Sayville, Eastern U.S.—The Russian front of Prince Leopold: In the Mitau sector the Russians again launched strong attacks which failed under heavy losses. The number of prisoners taken by us has reached 1,300. Near Kiepline, to the west of Lutsk, a German patrol surprised a Russian field post and brought back its occupants as prisoners. An attempt made by Russian companies to capture one of our posts southwest of Stanislau (Galicia) failed.

RUSSIAN

PETROGRAD, Jan. 7.—Enemy attacks against our positions between the Tihra marsh, the river Aa, and south of the village of Kalzhem were repelled by our fire. During the battle south of Lake Balit and south of Riga 500 Germans were captured.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

GERMAN

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Macedonian front—Attempts made by British troops to gain possession of the Bulgarian advanced positions northeast of Lake Doiran failed.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN

ROME, Jan. 7.—There have been intermittent artillery actions. By a surprise attack we advanced about 500 yards near hill 208. We recaptured a point in our front on the Carso.

SUNK 11 SHIPS
IN ELEVEN DAYS

BERLIN, Friday, Jan. 5.—[By wireless to Sayville, Jan. 7.]—An admiralty statement published in connection with the announcement of the safe return of the German submarine U-46, which had been reported sunk in the Bay of Biscay, says that a German submarine, number not given, has sunk eleven enemy steamers in eleven days.

"One of our submarines," says an official statement issued today by the German admiralty, "torpedoed and sunk Dec. 28 in the eastern Mediterranean an enemy transport of more than 5,000 tons. The vessel was accompanied by warships."

Denies Transport Lost. LONDON, Jan. 7, 2:30 p. m.—Commenting on the German admiralty report of the sinking of an enemy transport the London press bureau says:

"No transport, British or French, was sunk in the eastern Mediterranean Dec. 28."

Lloyd's announces that the British steamer Albia, 1,244 tons, and the Danish steamers Ebro, 1,027 tons, and Viking, have been sunk.

GREECE AWAITS
KAISER'S ORDER?

PARIS, Jan. 7.—The Greek royal army is only awaiting orders from Germany to attack the allies. M. Diomede, former Greek minister of finance, said to the Temps today. M. Diomede now is in Paris on a special mission for ex-Emperor Nicholas and head of the provisional Greek government.

"The Greek general staff," M. Diomede added, "was from the outset of the war constantly directed by Maj. von Falkenhayn, the military attaché of the German legation, and it is his orders the royal army has been carrying out since he himself was expelled from the country. It was he who established the plan for the distribution of artillery munitions, so as to conceal them more easily from the allies."

"It was he who assured communications between Athens and Berlin and furnished the German general staff with information concerning the movements of Gen. Sarrahl's army, supplied to him by the Greek staff. It was he who organized the telephone line between Athens and Berat by which the king is still

PROTEST BELGIAN
DEPORTATIONS

PARIS, Jan. 7.—President Poincare and King Albert of Belgium were represented at a large meeting today at the Trocadero, organized to protest against the deportation of Belgian and French civilians.

Maurice Maeterlinck, the writer, the Belgian minister of munitions, Emile Vandervelde, and Ferdinand Buisson, the French Radical Socialist deputy, spoke. M. Maeterlinck referred to the appeal of the Belgian workers to the civilized world as an authentic document and one of the most heartrending cries of distress ever sounded on earth.

Concluding, he said, the neutrals alone could prevent or punish certain crimes, against which, as they were beyond the reach of Belgian arms, the Belgians could do nothing.

"It is time," he said, "that the Germans be made to feel that there is an abyss between them and humanity which cannot be crossed except after long years of penitence, suffering, and humiliation."

Kaiser Has Peace Conference. AMSTERDAM, via London, Jan. 7.—According to German newspapers received here, Count Clemens von Chudenitz, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, had a prolonged audience with Emperor William at headquarters on Friday, at which the German foreign minister, Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, also was present. Peace was one of the matters discussed.

Riots Occur at Piraeus as French Marines Leave

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Telegraphing from Athens under date of Friday, Jan. 6, Reuters' correspondent says:

"Solatrous scenes at Piraeus yesterday evening resulted in the withdrawal of the French naval detachment stationed in the town hall there. This is regarded in Athens as an ill omen of future developments."

Kaiser Has Peace Conference.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Jan. 7.—According to German newspapers received here, Count Clemens von Chudenitz, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, had a prolonged audience with Emperor William at headquarters on Friday, at which the German foreign minister, Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, also was present. A Task That Is Never Finished

A GREAT city continues to grow. The men charged with the responsibility of managing a gigantic street car transportation enterprise can never reach a resting point and say: "It is finished." They must meet the demands of the present and anticipate the requirements of the future. To do this they must have the ability to procure capital in large amounts, year after year.

Their first great problem, therefore, is to make certain that the necessary capital can be procured.

Capital can only be procured when investors are satisfied that their principal is safe and will be repaid and that they will receive a fair return on their money.

All questions of doubt as to the safety of the principal and the adequacy of the return must be removed.

Street car transportation companies must go out into the money market of the country and secure their capital in competition with other great financial enterprises.

If they are unable to offer as good terms and as good security as other enterprises competing for the favor of investors they will not be able to obtain the capital needed, and development will have to cease.

If for any reason the companies are unable to obtain additional capital from time to time to meet the requirements for extensions, additional car and power equipment in the normal development of their properties, the growth of the city would be arrested. Transportation is essential to progress.

It is clear, then, that the encouragement of capital is of direct and personal importance to the street car riding public, as an insurance of adequate service.

Russians, in New Offensive,
Drive Germanic Armies Back
Northwest of Fokshani.

BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Russian and Rumanian, who for weeks have been steadily giving ground before the terrible attacks of the Germans and Bulgarians in central Rumania, apparently have made a stand with some success. The Russians began their offensive movement today in the region to the northwest of the important city of Fokshani. The official report issued in Petrograd says that they drove the enemy back to the positions which were occupied before the start of yesterday's fighting. To the southwest of Fokshani the Russians repulsed massed German attacks near Pecosch. The Russians in the region of Rasputza lake, after hard fighting, advanced to the line of the lake.

The Berlin official statement says that between Fokshani and Fundini the Russians made a heavy assault but that "only in the direction of Obilechti did they gain a little ground."

Tells of German Success.
BERLIN (by wireless to Saville, N. Y., Jan. 7).—The battle for possession of the southern bank of the lower Sereth and in central Rumania, along a sixty mile front, has been decided in favor of the central powers after fierce fighting, writes the military critic of the Overseas News agency, who points out that the Teuton troops took just one month in forcing their way from Bucharest to Braila, a distance of 125 miles. The military critic adds:

"The Russians were defeated and lost their fortified positions after weeks of preparation on the southern bank of the Sereth, from where, according to repeated announcements in the entente press, a counter offensive was to have been launched."

Gain Passage of Danube.
"In just one month the forces of the central powers traversed the road from Bucharest to Braila, a distance of 125 miles, under continuous and strenuous fighting. The Danube town, with its 60,000 inhabitants and important and efficient docks, depots, and elevators, offers an extraordinarily important strategic point of support for the central powers. Danube ships now may go from the heart of Germany as far as Braila. On the other hand, navigation by the Russians and Rumanians on the Danube has been completely stopped."

"The extreme eastern point of support of the Russo-Rumanian armies in the south position at Enules is under artillery fire. At Fundini, the center of the Sereth position, the troops of the central powers are going forward, and the German and Austro-Hungarian troops are pushing against the extreme western positions of the Sereth line at Fokshani."

URGES PHTHISIS
AID FOR FRANCE

New York, Jan. 7.—Study of measures for the relief and control of tuberculosis in France and to ascertain along what lines American sympathy and generosity can be made most effective in combating the disease, is to be undertaken by the Rockefeller foundation, it became known here tonight through a letter made public by Gov. Whitman. In this letter the governor urged that a leave of absence be granted Dr. Hermann M. Higgs, state commissioner of health, that he might go to France to make an investigation for the foundation.

TEUTON ADVANCE IN ROUMANIA

1—Petrograd reports Russians captured enemy trenches in Oltuz valley.
2—Under pressure Russian and Rumanian detachments on upper Suchitza river and northwest of Fokshani retired little to east.
3—Petrograd reports Russians by heavy counterattack fourteen versts (nine miles) northwest of Focani restored lost positions.
4—Petrograd reports repulse of heavy attacks six versts (four miles) southwest of Kocani.

5—Petrograd reports repulse of Teuton attacks on lower reaches of Buzau river.
6—Berlin reports enemy support points were captured between the Oltuz and Putna valleys, and Russians and Rumanians pushed farther towards the plains.
7—Berlin reports Russians launched great attack on front of fifteen miles between Focani and Fundini. They gained only in direction of Obilechti and attack broke down elsewhere.

ANARCHY RULES
IN AUSTRALIA,
PASTOR ASSERTS

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The Rev. J. Q. A. Henry, former Chicago clergyman, who has just returned from Australia, says that country is in the grip of anarchy. Taking advantage of the war crisis the labor unions and the I. W. W. have brought about a reign of terror, forcing the government, by threats of burning the cities, to release from the jails members of the I. W. W. bands who have committed treason.

Mr. Henry said the government at first refused the demands of the I. W. W. leaders, but when houses to the value of $3,000,000 had been destroyed the government backed down. There is a revolt on the part of labor against sending the troops necessary to keep up Australia's contingent of the army. The Australian forces in France are now 50,000 men short.

"Following the election, which the anti-conscriptorists carried," Mr. Henry said, "they immediately demanded that Premier Hughes demobilize the troops he had called to the colors for training. Hughes had to yield and the soldiers so sorely needed by Great Britain had to be disbanded and sent home."

"The hatred of Americans in Australia is intense. An Australian, being invited to attend an evangelical meeting held by an American clergyman, sent back word that he would rather go to hell than experience salvation at the hands of an American."

Finds Her Husband Dead.

John M. Houlihan, 38 years old, 2017 West Sixty-ninth street, a hattermaker, was found dead from gas in his room yesterday by his wife, Lillian. Mrs. Houlihan told the police she believed that her husband's death was an accident, as he was in good health and had no trouble.

Coliseum Fete Includes Booth for Work of Former Chicago Woman.

One of the most interesting of the booths at the Allied bazaar at the Coliseum, which opens Thursday, is in charge of Mrs. John Borden. The proceeds are to go to her sister, Mrs. Mary Borden-Turner, who is in charge of two large field hospitals in France, situated directly behind the battle lines.

Nothing more eloquent can be said in behalf of the cause behind this booth than excerpts from letters sent by Mrs. Borden-Turner to friends who have assisted her in the work she is doing for the soldiers of France and England:

"All day, and often all night, I am at work over dying and mutilated men. There is such a tremendous influx of wounded that often I cannot sit down from 7 a. m. till midnight. It is impossible to tear oneself away from men who are crying for drink, whose blood is dripping in pools on the floor."

Guns Roar Continually.
"The guns are pounding. An attack is announced for tonight. . . . Men are coming in, covered with blood—men without faces, without arms, without legs, raving in delirium, dying in your arms as you take off their clothes; and an outflow of men operated on . . . and another outflow of the dead—the dead."

"The guns behind this hill sound like the waves of the sea, pounding, pounding—and the sky is awash with aeroplanes . . . and sometimes we are bombarded . . . and all the time troops, troops, and more troops stream past."

"Their patience endures and they ask only to write to their homes, and they tell you they know they are going to die. Then they dictate a letter to their dear wives, saying that all is well; that they hope to be home soon; that they are not seriously wounded."

Wounded Show Bravery.
"O, these brave French 'poilus' with their hope and their courage and their gratitude! Surely no comfort is too much for them; no effort to comfort them too great. We shall need many, many things for the care of them—night shirts, bedsores, bed jackets, towels, handkerchiefs, water pillows, air cushions, bed rests, hot water bottles, large pillows, and fracture pillows. It is for this reason that I appeal to you."

And this letter from a friend of Mrs. Borden-Turner to a mutual friend in America:

MORE women are needed to make the big Allied bazaar "Ticket day" on Wednesday a success. On that day, the last one on which admittance tickets will be sold at half price, girls and women will visit office buildings, depots, and hotels with big bundles of tickets. They will give each purchaser a tiny American flag pin. All women who desire to help the bazaar on that day will be gladly welcomed by Mrs. Charles J. Frankenthal, chairman of the ticket day campaign. If they call at her office today, when tickets and territory will be given out. Her headquarters are in room 425 Monadnock block.

Borden-Turner to a mutual friend in America:

"I can't begin to tell you how she (Mrs. Borden-Turner) is supplying what would not be here otherwise and which no ordinary hospital would dream of attempting to be without. There she is, so businesslike and capable . . . You would know her, of course, even in her uniform, but I could not help thinking yesterday that she has changed a good deal."

NORWAY CRISIS
BY BRITAIN ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Announcement that Great Britain had prohibited the exportation of coal from Norway brought expression of grave fears in Scandinavian legations today that the economic and commercial crises in the Scandinavian countries were nearing the danger point.

Also, it is known that the coal situation in Holland is most serious. The case of Sweden in the coal crisis is said by subjects of that country to be acute and intimation is given that Great Britain is not cutting off the supply of Sweden in order to conserve fuel for itself, but that the curtailment is merely one step in the "trade war," which the Scandinavian nations believe the European war to be, in part.

Following the election, which the anti-conscriptorists carried, Mr. Henry said, "they immediately demanded that Premier Hughes demobilize the troops he had called to the colors for training. Hughes had to yield and the soldiers so sorely needed by Great Britain had to be disbanded and sent home."

Backed by Threat of Strike Tomorrow.

Unless the demands of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union for an increase in wages of approximately 10 per cent are accepted today, according to one of the union officials, a general strike of all janitors affiliated with the union will be called for tomorrow.

Twenty thousand buildings and 6,000 janitors would be affected, it is said. William Quess, president of the union, declared he would make a last attempt today to get the various apartment building associations to agree with the union demands.

The board of the union have been bargaining for two days on the strike question. Returns, nearly complete, show that more than 90 per cent of the members are in favor of giving the union the right to call a strike.

The Chicago Federation of Labor voted to support the janitors if they should walk out.

Attitude of Owners.
E. Orris Hart, president of the apartment building association and member of the real estate board, says these organizations have enough men in repair and maintenance to take the place of any janitors who strike. He intimated the various associations might consider the union's demands today.

"The Chicago real estate board and the apartment building associations have been dealing with unions," said Mr. Hart. "We stand for an open shop. Every owner should be allowed to hire his own help. No one should be discriminated against."

"It might be that, in view of the high cost of living, some of these men are entitled to more pay. It is not so much a question of wages that we are against. We don't propose to bargain collectively. It is the right of the individual owner to insist on bargaining individually."

Try to Reach Agreement.
"The building associations might be willing to discuss the demands even with representatives of the union. If they ask us to decide on a schedule we might even to that. We will get up a schedule and try to come to an agreement on one of the two."

The new union scale calls for an increase in wages graduating according to the number of apartments in a building. Living quarters are also to be provided or $10 a month is to be added to the wages.

Police Show Speed in "Long Distance" Arrest

An hour and a half after the local detective bureau had received a telegram yesterday from the San Francisco police asking for the arrest of Charles C. Hately, 26 years old, on a charge of forgery, Hately was arrested and a telegram telling of the arrest was sent to the San Francisco police.

SAVE THE BABY

Women's Clubs Expect 4,000
Cities to Celebrate "Baby Week."

N expectation of the celebration of "Baby week" in 4,000 American cities, the General Federation of Women's Clubs has made the new year a time of centering interest on the preservation of the infant.

It is pointed out that last year 2,000 cities celebrated "Baby week." This year the campaign will be made in the week between May 1 and May 6, and already requests have been made on governors, mayors and other officials to urge observance of the week through proclamations.

The federation will aid all local committees in the preparation of programs. It is pointed out that cost can be regulated by those in charge, inasmuch as last year one city presented a beautiful show for $4,000, while still another show of generous proportions didn't cost a cent.

"DIME CONCERT" DRAWS LARGEST HOUSE OF SERIES

Capacity Audience at Portage
Park School Hears American Symphony.

The "dime concert" by the American Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon at the Portage Park school drew by far the largest and most enthusiastic audience that has yet attended in the series of entertainments. The large school auditorium was packed, every seat in the house filled, and many were turned away.

Glenn Dillard Gunn, conductor of the orchestra, was offered a guarantee to fill the house at two performances if he would arrange a return date, preferably in the latter part of February. Mr. Gunn was unable to give a definite promise owing to incomplete schedule plans.

Praises Audience.
"The American Symphony orchestra never played to a more responsive audience," said Mr. Gunn. "The quick, sympathetic appreciation and response of the audience was gratifying. It was proof also that Chicago likes tuneful classics and is not wholly devoted to heart to ragtime."

Mrs. Edith Ayers McCullough, the soloist, was given a splendid reception and was called back for several encores. The audience also gave the finest response in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," and at its conclusion request was also made for "America." This, too, was sung with great spirit, and encores called out the entire song.

ARREST OF TRIO BREAKS UP GANG OF SWINDLERS

Three Merchants Nabbed in Raid on Room in South Side Hotel.

Three "Get Rich Quick Walling-tons" whose criminal operations in the city have been broken up by the police, were arrested in Chicago yesterday by Pinkerton operatives and city detectives.

The men were captured in a hotel on the south side. They gave their names as Albert Moskowitz, Isidore Siegel, and Abraham Rabinowitz. They belong to a "mob" which is supposed to comprise members of the underworld in several cities.

The cities in which the gang has operated are New York, St. Louis, New Orleans, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Paul, Chicago, East St. Louis, and Gary, Ind.

The arrest in Chicago was made by the Pinkerton Superintendant E. J. Weiss and Detective Sergeant E. J. Birmingham and John McGinnis.

Paid with Bogus Checks. The method of the swindlers was to open a checking account in a bank. They pyramided the account with as many bogus checks as they could negotiate. They would buy a lot of merchandise from local wholesale houses. The goods were sold at a profit, but the bulk of the proceeds were paid for with bogus checks.

Concealed Right Names. Word came from the east that the three men were stopping at a certain hotel. The detectives could not find them at the hotel under their right names. While an operative was standing in the lobby yesterday morning Siegel called for his mail under his right name. The rooms occupied by himself and his confederates were located and he was followed.

In their rooms was found a great quantity of silk stockings, silk scarves, and the women's apparel, said to be worth several thousand dollars. Hundreds of "phony" business cards and a number of check books also were found. Letters in code not yet deciphered, it is believed, will put the authorities in possession of valuable information.

"If they had not been arrested," said one of the detectives, "the trio, according to their plans, would have cleaned up handsomely by Tuesday or Wednesday. The arrest breaks up one of the cleverest and most dangerous gangs of its kind that ever operated in the United States."

"AIR BUBBLE" CASE NEAR END

Olney, Ill., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—A half more for the state, a day for the defense, and a day for arguments in the schedule projected at the trial of Roy Hintersitter, charged with the murder of Elizabeth Ratcliffe.

The jury passed the morning walking about town, the prospective trip to the scene of the girl's death being abandoned when the defense refused to agree to the plan.

One of the state's most important witnesses is 17 year old Floyd Spok, who will be called in the morning. It is said he will testify that Hintersitter told him a few hours before the girl's death that he (Hintersitter) had performed many operations like that which is said to have killed Miss Ratcliffe without ever making a mistake.

TRIPLE WOOING FIVE YEARS AGO ENDS IN MURDER

Jilted Suitor of Hungarian Romance Dies in Quarrel Over Married Woman.

Love of three men for a woman, an affair which began five years ago in Hungary, resulted in the murder of one of the suitors early yesterday in the home of the man who finally married the girl.

Daniel Turbot was the man murdered. He was stabbed over the heart.

Turbot, Daniel Lisslovich, and Joseph Nadroedich all lived in the same town in Hungary.

in Hungary, the police were told, and were rival wooers of the woman who later married Nadroedich. After the marriage Joseph and his bride moved to Chicago. Turbot and Lisslovich received letters from the happy couple, and they soon followed to this country and boarded at the home of Nadroedich, 8947 Green Bay avenue.

Two children were born to Joseph's wife, but still the other two suitors persisted in their wooing. Lisslovich was jealous about Turbot and frequently quarreled with him.

Saturday night Joseph gave an after Christmas celebration at his home, to which ten other boarders were invited. Liquors were served, and after midnight, when the party became boisterous, the two Daniels singled each other out to talk about their love for Joseph's wife, who is 28 years old. A fight started and Turbot was stabbed. He ran out to the sidewalk, where he died.

The police were called and arrested everybody in the house. Lisslovich was missing, and the police say he committed the murder. The members of the party are being held as witnesses.

"But Joseph is the only one that I love," Mrs. Nadroedich told the police.

For several weeks the Rev. E. H. Jones, the "fighting pastor" of the Methodist church, has been assailed with explosive ammunition for his criticism of State's Attorney Jones.

He decided on last night for a clean-up and sent advance copies of his speech around to the newsmen packed with affidavits, he was to go before his congregation with a list of a modern Isalah and charges against the State's attorney's office with charges of perjury, and several other falsehoods.

The Rev. Mr. Williams threatened to deliver his sermon on "L. C. Hollister, secret agent," M. C. A. read it to the court last night.
"I think," Hoynes controlled the department, I might be suspicious if it's all right," was the comment.
Dr. Williams' sermon is a review of the charges preferred by Attorney H. O'Donnell, which led to Hollister's imprisonment. It presents the case of Maurice Kleinman of New York, credited with being the brain of the burglars' trust, and representative of Hoynes's of the presence of witnesses, and another, made by Harry Morgan, the Henry Morgan of the "Dynamite" framed by Morgan and Weisbaum, the case officers, as well as Attorney H. O'Donnell.

Already Made.
In substance these charges are as those already made public, but Dr. Williams says they are as true, and demands a grand jury investigation. On top of these allegations is now one to the effect that he sought to shield Steinberg from arrest, head of an expedition to Berger's office after the wagon had been robbed. As Dr. Williams, Berger tried to frame Gallowich, who is known as "Handy Man" by the police, as Steinberg, the grand jury was seeking. Mr. Steinberg is now in jail. Tonight the story is true.

REV. WILLIAMS WARRANTED ON ARREST OF "EXPOSE"

Arrested in House by Diphtheria, Pastor Has Friend Read Attack on Hoynes Aids.

Several weeks the Rev. E. L. Williams, the "lighting pastor" of Grace church, has been assembling an explosive ammunition for a bomb-throwing campaign against the attorney general, who is the target of his "Expose" campaign.

On Sunday night last for the big church and sent advance copies of his "Expose" to the newspapers.

Before his congregation in the church of a modern Isaiah and charge the state attorney's office with bribery, perjury, and several other forms of corruption.

But—Diphtheria.
In the meantime his 20 months old son was taken ill with diphtheria.

A health officer came Saturday night and took a culture from the Rev. Williams' throat.

Yesterday the health officer returned. "There's a germ carrier," he told the pastor, and "I'll have to quarantine you."

"I've got a big sermon to deliver tonight," expostulated the Rev. Mr. Williams. "What'll happen if I break the quarantine?"

"In months in the county jail is all," was the response.

By Proxy.
The Rev. Mr. Williams thereupon decided to deliver his sermon by proxy, and L. C. Hollister, secretary of the M. C. A., read it to the congregation last night.

"If Mr. Hoynes controlled the health department, I might be suspicious; but I guess it's all right," was the clergyman's comment.

Dr. Williams' sermon is a repetition of the charges preferred by Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell, which led to O'Donnell's indictment. It presents an affidavit from Maurice Kleiman that Nathan Steinberg, credited with being the master brain of the burglars' trust, gave a representative of Hoynes's office $100 in the presence of witnesses. This affidavit was another, made by Harry Green, also charged that Henry A. Berger and William H. Duval "framed" to "get" Green and Weissman, the convicted political officers, as well as Attorneys Erbstein and O'Donnell.

Already Made.
A substance these charges are the same as those already made by O'Donnell, but Dr. Williams says he regards them as true, and demands an impartial grand jury investigation.

In top of these allegations he makes a new one to the effect that Berger ought to stand Steinberg when George Brown, head of an express company, went to Berger's office after an express receipt had been refused. According to Dr. Williams, Berger tried to palm off Willie Gallowich, who is termed "Hoynes's handy man" by the clergy.

As Steinberg, the man whom Hoynes was seeking, Mr. Sproul said it might be the true story.

Threatened Pastor.
Dr. Williams intimated at night that if he continued to charge he would seek the clergyman's indictment on a charge of conspiracy to slander.

"It's all a fabrication of lies," said Mr. Berger. "In the first place," he thought I could be crazy enough to take $100 from Steinberg. I wouldn't be crazy enough to take it in front of witnesses.

And in the second place, O'Donnell saw both Kleiman and Green before they made their statements to Dr. Williams. One of these crooks has been on O'Donnell's pay roll at $12 a week.

"If Dr. Williams continues to slander me, let him take the consequences."

BAL TABARIN
CLUB 'PINCHED'
ONCE AGAIN

Detective Sergeant McGowan found a pitcher of wine on a table in the Bal Tabarin club rooms in the hotel at 1206 Chicago in the morning. About 200 men and women were dancing in the club rooms. Mr. Belfield was released on a $400 bond.

It was the second time Mr. Belfield was arrested. He was arrested New Year's eve, but was discharged on a condition, a law being found in the meantime, that he was arraigned before Judge Mahoney.

Reserve Corps Officers
Call Get-Together Meeting

An informal meeting of men from Chicago and near by places who have been commissioned in the newly created official reserve corps, U. S. A., will be held this evening at Hotel La Salle. The meeting, called by Captain Clark Baker, Major E. H. Thomas, and John L. Thornton, O. D. C., is designed as a "get-together" of reserve officers.

MISS GARDEN AS CARMEN: OTHER OPERA-ITEMS

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

THE most cerebral of the Carmens, Mary Garden, was the matter of chief interest in the week-end activities at the Opera: It was exposed at the Saturday matinee to an audience bearing not the slightest proportion to the frequently-heard opinion that Miss Garden and the Blaset masterpieces are immovable. She was at-a-via again with Muratore, as in some of the best performances of the 1913-14 season: he—as a consequence, I dare say—far surpassed his previous best as Don José.

This quality in Muratore—his eagerness to engage with the great talents of the opera-stage, and his joy in joining others with exceptional gifts in making ensembles—is high in the imposing inventory of attributes that make him the First Tenor. I suspect that he would have been the enoche of his flower-gone on this occasion: when Campanini took it up, attention shifted from Muratore to Miss Garden with a thought of Farrar's lack of sportsmanship in last season's performance.

But the end-of-the-season visitor was deep-purple to the last note of the repudiation: she thought of a thousand things to do, and did them, with fine regard for his part and hers. Just as he was throughout the opera the better in a part in which he is indisputably the best, so was the Carmen, at every point of contact, the better because of Blaset's attribution: they were paired patricians of an elegant, aristocratic milieu.

Doubtless, Miss Garden has been told that her Carmen is "not the Gypsy of Merimee's novel," by which token, perhaps, it is just that I am not familiar with the requirements in the matter: I know only that no other Carmen has, according to those who talk as if they understood all about it, been "the Gypsy of Merimee's novel." I am certain, however, that here is a Carmen which means something with respect to Blaset's opera: one as credible as a character in the medium of sung drama can be. It is not, moreover, a not-august close study of the symbols of Spanish decoration.

It would not get a hand if made an item in a Pageant of All Nations such as I expect Mr. Ziegfeld will make ready for the Folies as soon as Mr. Wilson moderates his epistolary transports sufficiently to permit the warning powers to make a self-respecting peace. Miss Garden is no more a stage-Spaniard than Miss Sara Allgood is a stage-Celt. Yet, she is the most pictorial as well as the most dramatic and most believable Carmen in a long time. Her aspect that involves the celebrities of this opera from Minnie Hauk to last season's Auditorium glass-crash, Conchita Supervia.

Without a desire to stangle in spreading the record, I would say that Miss Garden sang well at the matinee, especially in the first and second acts. Nobody else, I believe, sings the card-scene so well as Maria Gay; but here Miss Garden managed to make the incident a thrill instead of a vocal specialty: I shall never forget the effect of her turning the death-study toward the audience with a gesture which seemed to mean that she was merely bent on turning it from herself.

"If I were, in the long scene of measure, Maria was the incontinent. She danced, if here, in the long scene for the two, she was not "the Gypsy of Merimee's novel," so much the worse for Merimee! She was wanton, rutilant, fescine in her beguilement: an evening, no doubt, of all the carnal temptings.

Maguenat's Toreador, new here, was not the expected matter: he gave the part youth, which it needs, but no body. He suggested a bull-fighter with ethics—or, maybe, an actor who had made the distance from a Loo success to a North Side snore. He sang the rousing aria, "Lohengrin," which took its distinction solely from Mr. Pollak's last night's "Lucia," the fourth, with Gallucci's recording her customary mad success in the mad-scene.

The other items were a half-price "Aida" to a big audience, which was rapturous in approval; a Sunday-afternoon "Lohengrin," which took its distinction solely from Mr. Pollak's last night's "Lucia," the fourth, with Gallucci's recording her customary mad success in the mad-scene.

That Sunday-night opera is a business mistake was indicated again, as in Miss Garden's opening: the boxes were empty, and the main-floor held a sparse gathering, although the galleries were jammed. Arimondi, Ill. was replaced by Nicolay; not that it matters who else is in "Lucia," when Gallucci-Chord sings as to "Lohengrin," it is the last of Wagner's opera to be regarded as worth while with a—her an indignant cast or a hasty staging.

Exhibit Shows U. S. Flag's

BILLIK PARDON BITTER CUP TO GIRLS OF VRZAL

Decry Freeing of Fortune Teller and Turn Against Brother Who Aided.

The pardon by Gov. Duane of Herman Billik, sentenced for life for the Vrsal murders ten years ago, was a bitter cup to Mrs. Emma Moravec and Bertha Vrsal, who escaped the poison that sent six members of their family to their deaths.

Mrs. Moravec is the eldest daughter of Martin Vrsal and his wife. At the time of the tragedies she was Mrs. Emma Nieman, a widow. She has married again and moved to 2448 South Harding avenue.

Bertha Vrsal lives with her. Bertha was the baby of the family. She was 7 years old when her mother, facing exposure for the crimes into which she had been led, it has been supposed, by the hypnotic powers of Billik, committed suicide. At the suggestion of Billik, it was said in court, Mrs. Vrsal had killed her husband and four children to collect the insurance.

She gave $5,000 of this money to the man who has just been pardoned from the penitentiary after serving eight years.

Says He Deserved Death.
"If ever a man deserved hanging, Herman Billik did," said Mrs. Moravec. "I am the one who first suspected that he had killed my father and my sisters. I exposed him. I had him arrested. I never ceased in my efforts at vengeance until I saw him sent to the penitentiary. I have nothing in my heart but bitterness for Billik now. I could cheerfully stone him to death. It would be a joy to me to pull on the rope that choked his life out."

There may be doubt in Gov. Duane's mind as to Billik's guilt, but there is not the shadow of doubt in mine. I am sure that this fate fortune teller had some uncanny power over my mother. I call it hypnotism or what you will. My mother was under a spell.

His Testimony True.
"My brother Jerry's testimony at the last trial was true. He has declared I hated him because Father Callaghan induced him to do so. I will never forgive my brother for the lie which gave freedom to the murderer of his father and mother. For that lie he ought to be put in the penitentiary for life. At this point Miss Bertha Vrsal came in from outdoors—a dainty miss whose cheeks bloomed like roses from the cold. The bitterness of the girl matched that of her older sister."

Billik Likes Fat Spider.
"I was only 7 years old when my mother died," said Miss Bertha, "but I remember everything. I remember Billik used to remind me of a fat spider. I hated him because he was so fat. The memory of his white moon face in our home, his purring words and oily manner to my mother, haunt me still. When I saw that evil face of his in the papers the other day when he was pardoned, I almost fainted, and they had to bring me a glass of water."

"If it hadn't been for me," cut in Mrs. Moravec, "Bertha would have been sitting here talking. She would have been murdered with the others—and Mr. Jerry, too—the boy who now has opened the door of freedom to Billik."

Can't Understand Jerry.
"I don't understand my brother Jerry," said Miss Bertha. "I am half tempted to believe he is crazy, or else got money for his lies. His testimony was true. His denial of it is perjury. He told me the use of talismans was helpless. We don't want Billik tried again. One terrible experience like that trial was enough for all of us. We don't feel like fighting with him any more. He is a bad egg."

Billik lingered in Chicago on his way from Joliet to the home of his wife in Cleveland one an hour," said Mrs. Moravec. "Ah, that coward was afraid. He had better stay away from this town. He might be killed—get what was coming to him for what he did to us."

"We are all through with Jerry," added Miss Bertha. "He is a bad egg."

POLICE SCAN
"RED BOOK" OF CLAIRVOYANT

Mrs. Mona Allen's "red book" of the spirits lately was scrutinized with interest yesterday by the police. Eight persons whose names appear therein were asked whether their experiences with the clairvoyant would corroborate Mrs. Catherine Butera's charges that she runs a confidence game.

All of them testified that they were charged only the regular clairvoyant rates. It is said that the names of a number of wealthy women are listed in the Allen "red book" of clients.

Mrs. Allen and her husband were arrested on Saturday at their home, 2765 West Jackson boulevard, and charged with operating a confidence game. It is alleged that by putting Mrs. Sophia Beckman, 4338 Park avenue, into communication with her dead husband, she poured into her a remarkable line of advice, most of which directed Mrs. Beckman to make certain gifts to Mrs. Allen or turn over to her large sums of money for investments.

It is charged that Mrs. Allen in this way secured $400 at one time, various smaller sums at others, turkey, silk stockings, and other wearing apparel. She is alleged, was on the point of turning over $200 cash for investment and a piece of real estate worth several thousand dollars.

Atlas Taxi Firm to Quit If Union Presses Demand

Will Leave Chicago Jan.
14, Unless Permitted to Keep Old Employes.

Chicago faces the unique spectacle of a concern, instead of its employes, going out on strike.

It's a case of too much union. The Atlas company, one of the large taxi-cab firms of Chicago, has posted a notice to its employes stating that unless the taxi drivers' union abandons its demand on the firm it will go out of business.

Here Is Notice.
The union has rejected the applications for membership of twenty-one chauffeurs employed by the Atlas company. Upon which Harry C. Strauss caused the following notice to be posted at the main garage of the company, 2334 South Wabash avenue:

NOTICE.
Local 127, I. B. of T. C. S. & H. of A. has given final notice of the rejection of the applications for membership in the union of the following mentioned chauffeurs now in our employ:

F. Barnshaw, Robert Meyers, Wm. Campton, F. Holland, Earn Burton, J. E. Tracey, F. A. Hanneman, Louis Johnson, J. Kinney, Julius Dinkelholz, R. Bickel, J. D. Beach, Joe Paulus, Sam Lavin, L. W. Hastings, G. H. Penhall, E. W. Yager, C. A. Kitley, E. H. Reynolds, Lee Guenzburg.

The union has demanded the dismissal of these men on or before Jan. 15, 1917. This company cannot comply with this demand. Therefore, unless these men are admitted into the union before Jan. 15, 1917, this company will close its doors at midnight Jan. 14, 1917. This notice is given to enable each of our employes as desirous to do so to make arrangements for employment elsewhere, beginning Jan. 15, 1917.

Move to New York.
Upon ceasing to do business in Chicago the company will promptly open its business in New York City. Any of our employes who desire to serve us there will kindly signify their intention by communicating with the writer. Truly yours,

HENRY C. STRAUSS, Manager.
Culmination of Strike.
The Atlas company was a nonunion concern up to several years ago, when enough of its chauffeurs were enlisted into the union to enable them to call a strike on the firm. The strike was accompanied by violence, in which chauffeurs were beaten, stink bombs were hurled, and several passengers were struck by flying missiles. The company finally capitulated and, in addition to accepting the union, paid its men a higher salary than the union scale.

The union then calculated to force chauffeurs out of work, refuse them admission to the union, and supplant them with men of its own picking to the contemplation of quitting business in Chicago.

Samuel Chalmers took three routes to death to escape arrest yesterday—gas, poison, and a high leap. But none was as swift as advertised. Chalmers is in the bridewell hospital. His skull is fractured. He is now in one hospital, having gone beyond the saving power of antidotes, and he may live.

Chalmers, who is 22 years old, lives at 3728 West Fifteenth street and is a clerk for the Metro Picture Service. Detective Sgt. Joseph McDonald of the Central district went yesterday to the boy's home to serve a warrant charging the embezzlement of $180. It is believed Chalmers stole the money from the room. The room was empty.

A glance out of the window showed Chalmers' figure sprawled out on the sidewalk. It is believed he dived, striking the pavement with his head.

HER ADVENTURES
MENTAL MYTHS

Fifteen year old Mabel Franks has a sweet idea of romance. On Nov. 26 the girl was found in an apparent stupor on the streets. She told her family and the police that a man had thrown her from an automobile when she refused his advances.

Yesterday Mabel was found again at a faint at Lamar avenue and Gunston street. She said she was spirited away by two men in an automobile, who dropped her from the car after an exciting ride of three miles.

The detectives cross examined her, and she finally admitted both stories were fictions.

"I read about girls having similar experiences," she said, "and I thought it was romantic reading."

The girl is the daughter of Arthur Franks and lives at 4354 North California avenue.

Four Rescued
IN STRANGE FIRE

A fire, believed by the police to have been of incendiary origin, was discovered last night in a three story building at 117 South Halsted street. The fire started on the second floor, which is occupied by N. B. Di Petro and his wife, who were not at home at the time. Mrs. J. ... Purpose and her three children, ranging from 3 years to 7 years, were rescued from their home on the third floor by Policeman J. Gannon of the Desplaines street station.

Two empty cans, which the police say had contained gasoline, were found in the Di Petro home by firemen. Di Petro returned home a short time after the fire and was arrested by detectives. He is being held.

Miss Blanche Skolenski, 19 years old, was rescued and damage estimated at $100 was caused by fire in a three story brick building at 7200 Washington boulevard. The first floor is used as a saloon and café by Brink Brothers, who own the structure. The blaze originated in the basement below the barroom and spread upward at the rear of the building to the roof. Miss Skolenski, who is employed in the kitchen of the café, was sleeping. P. Brink, one of the employes, carried her to the street.

T. R. Taft, and Bryan
Are Likened to Apostles

A halo was put around the heads of Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, and William Jennings Bryan yesterday in a sermon preached by the Rev. G. C. Whitcomb, pastor of the Weaver Memorial United Brethren church, North Kedzie and Kedzie avenues. The three political leaders were likened to the apostles St. Peter, St. James, and St. John.

"As God had use for three apostles who represented three different types of men, so he had use for each one of the three political leaders of our day," he said.

Mr. Roosevelt is impulsive like St. Peter, but likewise useful in leading the way. Mr. Taft is practical like St. James, and likewise useful in guiding movements after they are under way. Mr. Bryan is spiritual, and likewise useful in leading men to ideals."

Robbery as a field for women took on a new criminal aspect yesterday when James Athas of 2510 Prairie avenue reported that he had been held up by two women and a man.

One of the women held a revolver against Athas while the other woman, a mere girl—and a man who approached from the rear, searched his clothes and took $25. When the woman took the money she said:

"Now, beat it home to your wife, and the robbers fled.

Banchman Fights Pair.
Frank M. Gopdon, 1165 Hyde Park boulevard, a former ranchman, fought with a pair of bandits at Fifth street and Woodlawn avenue and was shot in the hip and hand. He is said to be in a serious condition. The robbers escaped.

After three young men had robbed Walter A. Clark, 1319 Arlington street, they proceeded in Aberdeen street and ran into a "flying squad" of detectives who halted them. Meanwhile Clark, who had been robbed of $130, came up and identified them. They were James Howard of 2348 Monroe street, Otto Brower of 1104 West Madison street, and Charles Wheaton of 1100 Washington boulevard. All are under 18 years old.

Robbed by Limousine Bandits.
Peter Pohrns, 2633 North Troy street, was robbed of $20 and a watch valued at $60 by four men who drove up in front of his home in a limousine. Albert Richius, 4084 South State street, a grocer, was robbed of $40 while in his store by three men.

Peter Mimerowski, 2146 Crystal street, was robbed of $6 by three men. Three automobile bandits robbed Vern Allers, 280 North Austin avenue, of $30 and his overcoat, and Richard Tesman, 717 Rockwell street, of a watch.

Arthur Schumacher, 1781 Farragut avenue, lost $20 and his overcoat when three young bandits robbed him.

Norman Runkler of 402 South Halsted street and Edward Craig, 28 North Illinois street, were arrested after a pistol chase, accused of robbing Lee Crevar, 473 Deering place, of $25.

MODEL MURDER QUIZ WIDENS TO CHICAGO

Two telegrams received at the Chicago detective bureau late last night from Capt. James Tate of Philadelphia asking the police to interrogate William A. Stewart of the Blue Goose café regarding Bernard W. Lewis, son of a Pittsburgh millionaire, who committed suicide following the murder of Grace Roberts, seems to indicate the Quaker city police have not given up their investigation.

In one telegram it was stated that a hotel key bearing the number "188" on one side and on the other "4 A-44" was found on Lewis' person. The other telegram stated that Lewis had frequented various Chicago cafés, and asked that Stewart be questioned.

Detective Sergeant Freeman Steele questioned Stewart. He learned Lewis had stayed at the La Salle hotel the latter part of November and had departed for New York Dec. 5, after having passed a bogus check for $150 on Stewart. Lewis had often been seen in the company of a woman.

The police will continue the investigation further today.

BROTHER DEMANDS INQUIRY
Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Grace Colbert Roberts' brother, Vincent Colbert, tonight made a personal appeal to Mayor Smith requesting an interview tomorrow, when he will tell Mr. Smith what he knows of the affair. Neither young Colbert nor his father believes Bernard W. Lewis is the man who committed the deed.

It is understood Vincent Colbert will tell the mayor that the detectives bungled the case; that he believes they are shielding some influential person and will demand justice through the mayor.

"We still are investigating the murder," Capt. of Detectives Tate said.

Cody's relatives hope of recovery. The colonel's wife and daughter are hurrying here from the family home in Cody, Wyo.

Police Search for Boy
Missing with Automobile

The detective bureau was asked last night by the Oak Park police to watch for a seven passenger automobile bearing the license number 180,323 Ill., in charge of Ardie J. Foley, 1108 Home avenue, Oak Park.

Later a message was sent out to all stations from the Austin police station, requesting that inquiries be made at garages and repair shops for the car.

The car is the property of A. J. Foley, father of Ardie, who is 21 years old. Young Foley and the automobile vanished Jan. 2 and the son has not been heard from since, the police were informed.

Waukegan Grocer Shot as He and Policeman Meet in Search in the Dark.

Waukegan, Ill., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Francis La Bounty, 28 years old, a grocer, was killed last night in a midnight battle with Policeman Art Bailey, the fight resulting from each man mistaking the other for one of the men who had held up La Bounty and his wife a short time before, robbing them of $400.

The shooting occurred within 100 feet of the city hall.

La Bounty and William Brown, at whose home the former left his wife after the holdup, armed themselves with revolvers and started after the robbers. La Bounty believed the men had mistaken him for Merle Eastburn, who was due along the same street on his way home, and who usually carried a large sum of money with him.

Wait for Holdup Man.
Hiding in an alley, La Bounty and Brown waited for the appearance of the holdup men again. Officer Bailey also had been detailed to hunt for the robbers. As he neared the alley he was told that two men were seen in hiding there. He entered the alley and was seen by La Bounty and Brown, who believed him to be one of the men they were looking for.

Mistake Is Discovered.
The policeman was ordered to throw up his hands and run with a like command. All three men drew guns and began firing, the policeman jumping behind a telephone pole for protection. Nearly a dozen shots were exchanged and La Bounty fell with two bullets in the breast. Brown, who is a brother of the Iroquois county sheriff, went for help when he saw his partner fall.

Meanwhile, others arriving on the scene assisted in carrying the body of the dead man to the city hall. Here it was learned for the first time that it was one of the business men of the city and not a robber that had been killed.

When Brown arrived he explained how they came to be in the alley. Bailey gave himself up to the sheriff, but no charge has been preferred against him. A posse aided by bloodhounds scoured the country surrounding Waukegan today for traces of the robbers, but without result.

PAREISIS CURED
BY SALVARSAN?

New York, Jan. 7.—[Salvarsan administered directly into the inner cavity of the brain may be regarded as one of the most advanced and hopeful methods of arresting the destructive process of paresis, officials of the New York Post-Graduate Medical school and hospital announced in a formal statement tonight.

By the method used at the hospital, it was said, an opening is made through the skull and the dura of the brain and then with a blunt hollow needle that is passed directly through the tissue of the brain to the main central cavity, salvarsan is conveyed directly to the cerebro-spinal fluid in the main cavity of the brain. From there it is carried to the brain tissue.

Who the patient of the cerebro-spinal fluid throughout the entire cerebro-spinal system.

No symptoms of any serious nature have been noted after any of the operations, of which several dozens have been performed at the hospital. It was declared.

Coat of Khaki Kool.

BY HELEN MERRILL EMERY.

Each year the social season in town grows shorter and shorter, for society remains at its country places until well into November, and scarcely waits for the holidays to pass before flitting to warmer climates.

Already the shops are filled with most fascinating things for southern wear. Sports clothes naturally occupy a prominent place, as costumes of this type are now the recognized attire for almost every hour of the day. A noticeable feature of the spring models is the use of silk fabrics resembling rajah and shantung in texture but more beautiful in quality and color effects. Brilliant striped effects and unusual designs give to these materials a distinction all their own.

The accompanying illustration displays an extremely smart sports coat developed in khaki kool, in shade an oyster white. A distinctly individual touch is seen in the arrangement of yoke with a narrow, straight piece brought around the shoulders. The belt, cut in two pieces, fastens at each side with large self-covered buttons and in both back and front reveals unusual embroidered motifs done in blue and silver. The chief claim to smartness, however, lies in the lining of vivid blue satin, which is also used for collar, cuffs, and as a facing for the deep pockets.

Some groceries are featuring just now canned goods marked at sharp reductions. These may be looked for at any time for the next three months. Saw three pounds of Spanish onions at 14 cents on Saturday. Oranges reached the rock bottom price of 11 cents a dozen on Friday.

Baked Oranges.

PERHAPS one should go to the orange ranches of California to learn how to cook oranges. The following plan was the first I ever saw on this subject: "The oranges are halved, sugared and buttered, and baked two hours. Then a bit of cornstarch is added to thicken the sirup and glaze the fruit."

A hot orange is rather a good garnish to cold meat, and it would seem that an hour was ample time for the baking, as they are best when at the puffy stage, and not so attractive after they shrink. Now that oranges are so inexpensive, though there are high priced ones on the market, is a good time to find out how to cook this fruit.

If at first you do not succeed, try again. I am going to try with different spices, but being a really busy cook have had to neglect this particular business until a day of fruit experiments only.

To prepare, simply wash and wipe the requisite number of oranges, cut each in half and slice off just enough of the skin at the ends so that the pieces will stand well. Sprinkle each half with sugar and lay on each a thin slice of butter. Pour around the fruit enough water to keep the skins moist, and put to bake in an oven that would be good for baking potatoes.

Melvin had been told numberless times that he couldn't have all his wants satisfied. So one time, when his baby brother toddled up to him, while he was eating candy and reached for some of it, he paid no attention until he was spoken to for his selfishness. "Well," he replied, "that baby is always wanting something, and he can't have all his wants satisfied."

Her answer was: "Seem like anybody can't come in this room to play out they be sturbed."

There's nothing in the world of importance calling you and you aren't in the mood to just star at home and enjoy a good book, you might go to see a motion picture. Unless, however, you're in need of a sedative, I wouldn't especially recommend "Indiscretion." Admitting that the title sounds at least indiscreet, it behooves me to say that save for one or two mildly exciting scenes, the picture is conducive to restful slumber.

Of course the Walker dimples never entirely lose their power of fascination. One can always mildly amuse oneself counting the times they appear and disappear.

We have all been taught, presumably, that the price of indiscretion is damnation, supposing the indiscretion to have been committed by a young and beautiful maiden with dimples and curls. No matter how pure may be her intentions nor how like the sturdy oak her family tree, she simply cannot go to a notorious roadhouse with a married man and get away with it—that is, not if anybody sees her.

Now, Penelope of "Indiscretion" was motherless and boasted a student for a father. Consequently she ran wild—if you call romping, riding horseback, fishing, etc., wild. Those are the things she does in the picture which set the neighbors talking.

Feeling that his beautiful child bids fair to prove too much for him, her student father sends her away to boarding school, where she is a favorite with everybody, but does horrible things, such as having a midnight supper in her room, and, whisper, taking a puff of a cigar. O, she is a devil in her own home town all right, headed for the path of ruin by the ice cream soda route.

A telegram announcing the death of her father summons her home. For months there she wears black and refuses to see even her dearest friends. The butler, shaking his head, turns everybody away. "Is indeed a sad and unnatural situation."

Soon, however, a handsome young man, son and brother of friends, appears. Penelope likes him so well that she consents to go out in the world once more. Accordingly she makes her debut and flits through various parties, radiantly gowned, curls tossing, dimples flashing. At one of these parties she meets an attractive married man whose wife is jealous.

Now, Penelope doesn't care a fig for a girl who is married. And she doesn't know that his wife is jealous. Perfectly innocent and sweet, she pairs around with him, going without question one beautiful moonlight midnight with him to a roadhouse, where he tells her he expects to "er-meet a friend."

Once there she finds that the friend—and that it is his firm intention to make her more than that. Heaven knows what might have happened had not detectives for the wife broken in—hand and the tools.

That she is able to persuade the wife she is not guilty, keeps her from figuring in the divorce suit, and in the end she marries the nice young man, who, by the way, followed her also to the roadhouse.

It is pictures of this kind that make you half-heartedly agree with the anti-movie fans, who complain bitterly that "producers are at a standstill. They're doing the same old cut and dried, Bertha M. Clay stuff they started out with. The producers are up against a pretty stiff proposition for a fact. Their unremittent cry is "Ideas! Ideas! Ideas!"

They're people who know how to shape the ideas once in the office; who can put them in scenario form. They're directors who can take the scenario in hand and make them into pictures. Millions of dollars are spent annually in salaries to actors. But the man with ideas today is the man of the hour, and he seldom answers the call.

Hasn't anybody any ideas?

The appearance (herself) of Miss Annette Kellerman at the Studebaker theater Saturday morning was interesting. It was, however, we fear, a mistaken move on the part of her sponsors. While Miss Kellerman in street raiment is just as trim and charming as can be, to see her thus between scenes of a fairy picture where she is a glorified mermaid destroys the illusion. This is a pity, for it is solely upon the illusion that the picture is dependent for its success. The nymph herself was most reluctant to speak to the morning audience, having EXAMINE a fine lace collar that has been washed with Ivory Soap. Notice how clear it is in color. How much it feels like a brand new piece. How fresh and unworn it looks in every thread. That shows the quality of Ivory Soap—its mildness, purity and freedom from uncombined alkali.

To Wash Real Lace Collars and Other Fine Laces

Soak the lace in a piece of clean white muslin so that each point and piece is held firmly in place. Make a good lather of Ivory Soap and warm water and let the lace soak for thirty minutes. Then alternately press between hands and dip in the water until clean. Do not rub. If necessary, use a second clean lather of Ivory Soap. Then rinse in clear water, next in blue water and lastly in a third lather. Tack on a board stretching the muslin evenly. When nearly dry, remove from the board and press thoroughly through the muslin. Do not put iron on the lace. When dry, cut the lather threads and you will find the lace like new.

There were four of us, who belonged on a Vanderbilt circuit, on our way to Australia. One, a dashing Baltimore girl, was immediately named by the passengers the "American beauty." All the men on board admired her, and, although ostensibly engaged to Dick in far-away Maryland, she was not averse to bettering her fortune should a more eligible young man offer.

After a long sea voyage the ship put in at a certain port for water, and all the passengers with one accord dined at the luxurious hotel, which the English know so well how to build. We were a merry party, and while laughing over our goat chop, served under the name of lamb, the "American beauty" noticed a young man opposite, who was evidently both amused and interested. Etiquette is not strict in the far east, and the hotel manager was soon asking if he might introduce the young man, who was by far the wealthiest man of that city. During the evening he made rapid strides with the lady of his choice, but unfortunately the ship was to sail the next afternoon. We did sail according to schedule, and I shall never forget the picture the "American beauty" made as she stood at the stern of the ship waving an American flag. The young man in his yacht was waving his helmet, and we sighed to think the romance was so soon over.

But she had promised to marry him when he came to America in the spring. Then a wireless message came: "Meet me at the next port. Cannot wait until spring."

And the young lady took him at his word. She left the ship at the next port in spite of Dick and her contract. The consternation of some of the ladies on board was great, but they were said to be jealous.

Never Asks Him In.

"Dear Miss Blake: I would like to get some of your valuable advice on the love question. I have been going steady with a girl almost a year. I take her to shows, good deals and dances, but except when I call at the house she never asks me in. She has never asked me to enter the house after the show, but will sit on the front porch until it is time for my street car to leave. I enjoyed her company on the porch in summer, but it is getting too cold for that kind of weather. I work with her brother, and she and he both say the family approves of me keeping company with her. "Beart." Why don't you come out point blank and ask the girl why she does not invite you into her home? There may be some feature of her home life that embarrasses her. Perhaps if you talked it over she would feel more at ease, and the thing that prevents her now inviting you in, while appearing like a tragedy to her, may be a mere nothing to you in comparison with your fondness for the girl. At any rate, it's worth while finding out her reason for keeping you outdoors.

FIFTY YEARS devoted exclusively to the corset industry, designing for and fitting thousands of women, has resulted in the creation of

Sylvia Corsets

FEW WOMEN HAVE PERFECT FIGURES. Corset makers make corsets which serve to accentuate imperfections. SYLVIA CORSETS—made under my new, original and copyrighted system of fitting by live models—are made on the lines of the ideal figure and YOUR FIGURE IS MADE TO CONFORM TO THOSE LINES. This system has revolutionized the old method of cutting and making corsets to measurements.

TO ALTER A CORSET AFTER ITS COMPLETION often destroys the original lines of the garment. My new system of fitting eliminates the necessity of making alterations.

A CALL is solicited, and without any obligation on your part to purchase, I will be pleased to give you a personal demonstration of what I can do for the improvement of your figure as well as your personal comfort.

Doll Sale to Aid Polish Relief Fund

BY CINDERELLA

ADAMS PADEREWSKA's sale of dolls at Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter's house, 671 Lincoln parkway, this afternoon, ought to be very interesting.

Before the great war, Paderewska had a chicken farm in East Switzland, not far from Zurich, and her New Year's cards to American friends were often photographs of herself and the chicks.

Speaking of dolls, callers at the Frederick Countess yesterday afternoon saw a collection of dolls than which the Countess's were really thought to be more interesting.

FOREIGN BUYING OF CASH WHEAT MARKET FACTOR

Big Price Advances Follow Upturn in Premiums—Corn at New High Levels.

The strength in the cash wheat market was reflected in advancing prices for futures the last week. May gained 10¢/100 for the week, and July 6¢/100. Cash prices have more than kept pace with the futures, and there has been no material abatement in the demand notwithstanding the fact that premiums are now on the highest basis of the crop.

The allied countries were big buyers of hard winter wheat, paying as high as 21¢ over Chicago May, track Baltimore, for No. 2 hard. Old hard wheat in store at Chicago, which has been a drug on the market for months, also has been in better demand with higher prices quoted.

Primary receipts for the week were 4,502,000 bu., compared to 15,224,000 bu. a year ago, or about one-third of last year's movement.

Seaboard Clearances Increase.
With a larger number of boats loading at the seaboard clearances have increased, and with the smaller receipts big decreases in visible stocks are expected. Even with liberal clearances it will take considerable time to clean up the big accumulation in transit and on track around eastern and Gulf ports. Seaboard advances indicate there will be large numbers of vessels arriving in the next two months, and judging from the eagerness displayed on the buying side of cash wheat, the buyers expect to be able to move out the grain bought. Practically all of the domestic and Canadian grain now in the east is supposed to be owned by the allies, while there is little wheat available in the west. Farm reserves of both winter and spring wheat are light, and the visible supply does not look so imposing.

Corn Highest in Years.
Corn prices reached the highest level in years, touching $1.00 for May and equaling the high record established in 1892. Foreign buying of both cash corn and futures has been a big influence. Export sales reported from the seaboard have been the largest in some time. Traffic conditions are still unfavorable, but a gradual loosening up in conditions at the seaboard, with larger clearances of grain, may ameliorate shipping conditions to some extent.

Receipts have been quite liberal for the season and are still liberal. However, the cash markets have displayed no material weakness. On the recent advance the country has sold more freely, but receivers generally do not look for a great deal of selling. Argentine reports have reflected a more promising outlook for the crop in that country, but foreign reports indicate big consumptive requirements.

Oats Market Is Strong.
The oats market has been influenced both by the big cash sales and by the strength in other grains. On one day sales of 5,000,000 bu. were made for export, and with shipping conditions better, shippers say there would be no difficulty in disposing of the crop. Clearances have been moderate, whereas apparently being given to wheat at present. Receipts of oats are moderate, 2,977,000 bu. in the west for the week, compared to 4,440,000 bu. a year ago. In provisions there has been a broadening of the commission house demand, with higher prices in consequence, as there has been little pressure from any source. Cash trade is of reasonable proportions. Receipts of oats for the week were 607,000, compared to 641,000 the previous week and 718,000 last year.

THE regular business hours of this store are from 8:30 in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co

THE February Delineator, the Butterick Fashion Quarterly and Butterick Patterns for February on sale.

THE January Sales of 1917 will stand for some time as an achievement among occasions of the kind. First, because these sales have been true to all traditions in making January a month of special advantage at this store.

Secondly, because in the face of conditions which have made the procurement of the better class of merchandise increasingly difficult, qualities of most dependable character have without a single exception been secured.

Thirdly, because, throughout, these sales have fulfilled the high expectations always placed in them by offering the new, the genuinely quality-ful at a schedule of pricing pointing the unerring finger of opportunity straight at this store.

The New Cossack Blouse Is Very Specially Offered at $8.50

The mode of the moment and at a really noteworthy pricing. Not often is such a combination possible, but—these blouses were secured at an unusual advantage and reserved specially for this occasion.

So they and all the many other charming January newcomers, make to-day especially interesting in these sections.

Of Georgette Crepe, Beaded and Embroidered Is This Blouse

In the graceful, youth-giving lines, pictured. The quality of the crepe is notable, too, in a blouse priced at $8.50.

Cossack Blouses from $12.50 to $27.50 May Be Chosen in the Varied New Colorings.

Like Budding Flowers Come the New Cotton Dress Fabrics

Rather exotic blossoms, some of them, and the futurist seems to have influenced the designing, especially of the sports fabrics—they are strikingly different, charmingly befitting their purpose.

And many are the unusual patterns and colorings noted in other weaves of cotton dress fabrics of 1917.

New Dress Gingham is 60c Yard

Wonderful plaids, large and small, colorful or quiet, from those of domestic weaves at 30c yard to those of finest foreign manufacture at 60c yard.

Charming new cotton voiles in many quaint, new colorings, in delightful challis effects, are 35c yard.

Second Floor, North.

The new week starts opportunities anew, conspicuous among which are these specially featured-groups of—

Crepe de Chine Nightdresses at $3.95. Exquisitely simple in style—at the center.

The Subject of Delightful Showings To-day in the Women's Apparel Sections

Early though it be, this is no timid, tentative presentation in progress here. But a complete, authoritative exposition, bringing for your selection all that is best in the newly launched modes. Here are

New Suits in the New Weaves and the New Color Tones

White suits of jersey, tricotine, gabardine for southern wear. Suits of homespun, oxfords, men's wear serges, striped vicunas for travel or town wear.

Sports suits in new colors, French gray, beige, betrave, green and many high colors. Silk suits of rich gros de Londres, of serge glace are fascinating. Prices vary from $25 to $125.

New Suits of Pebblette, $85

Pleated in coat and skirt, stitched to emphasize the new slender silhouette, this suit brings even in its color, beige, the new details at their best. Sketched at the right.

Coats Are Silken for Sports Wear and Wool for All Wear

Top coats of mixtures, tweeds change their modes to meet the new lines. Spring-weight Bolivia cloths advocate high colors. Serge glace, poplins, are brilliantly toned in sports coats. $25 to $125.

New Coats of Gunnyburl in Beige Color, Lined in Brilliant Silk, are in the style at the left. $65.

For Southern Afternoons—

modes to complement in perfect harmony the new suits and frocks.

Plaza Sets of hat and bag to match. Hats of lavender straws with orchid pink satins. Hats with horse-hair brims and flower-petal crowns.

One of the Most Noteworthy of the January Sales of 1917

Through the successful outcome of unusually far-reaching plans these great stocks are now so exceptionally priced.

De Luxe sheets, soft and fine, beautifully finished, in size 72 x 99 inches, 90c; in size 81 x 99 inches, $1.

Bridal Sheets and Pillow Cases

Known in almost every Chicago household, Bridal sheets and pillow cases are noteworthy at January pricing:

The January Sale Centers Attention Upon House Dresses, $2.95, $3.95

It is a genuine gratification to present these house dresses.

So thoroughly excellent are they and such exceptional values—even the most critically inclined will receive them enthusiastically, we believe.

At $1.95 and $2.25—house dresses in most attractive styles of fine materials.

At $2.95—Gingham House Dresses

With a Smartly Yoked Skirt
In stripes of black-and-white and of pink-and-white—with a touch of color in the embroidery at the belt. Sketched at the right.

At $3.95—Gingham House Dresses

An Entirely New "Bodice" Style

Never was there a more attractive style than this pictured at the left. Arrow-heads emphasize its smart, unusual lines, and even the collar and cuffs are "different."

Third Floor, North.

January Sale of Corsets

To provide a season's supply now means the obtaining of such price-advantages as we believe cannot again be offered in some time.

The economy of time and energy effected by eliminating the necessity of repeated fittings is an important consideration, too.

But above all are the values offered, represented by A Special "Orchid" Corset at $5.50

Of rich broche, and in lines reproduced from a corset much higher priced, adapted to the taller figure, which requires the low bust. Sketched at the right.

A Special "Orchid" Corset at $4.50

Designed for the "average" figure. Developed in fine silk broche, and with all details of finish and making of unusual fineness. (Not sketched.)

An "Orchid" Corset for Misses, $3.50

With very low top having elastic insets to give ease and comfort. Sufficiently boned for shapeliness and developed in pink broche. Sketched at the left.
